The Royal College of Surgeons, Lincoln's Inn Field, London WC2A 3PE

- 11am to 1pm - Introduction and Course Information
- Art Portfolio Feedback

Come and find out about this unique and specialist postgraduate course. We recommend that all prospective students come to meet us, to discuss the syllabus, course structure and events.

Bring your art portfolio/s with you, for discussion and constructive feedback.

- 1pm to 2pm - Lunch and visit to the Hunterian Museum
Lunch is not included, but there is a canteen on site for students attending this event. The Hunterian Museum is free of charge.

- 2pm to 4pm - Medical Art Drawing Taster Session
Bring your own art materials, including cartridge pad for a practical drawing session; experiencing detailed observational medical drawing with artwork guidance from expert tutor/s throughout the afternoon.

This information taster day follows a structured programme so booking is essential. There are only six places available and the fee per student is £35.00. If you would like to attend, please complete and return the attached booking form. Further information will be supplied to you upon confirmation of your place.

Please note that student applications and formal interview invitations for the MAET Postgraduate Course in Medical Art, taking place on Monday 26th March 2012 is a separate event from the above Information Day. All application forms are available on our web site www.maet.org.uk
